TEACHERS

Graduates,

You're about to embark upon a new experience. Some of you are looking forward with anticipation, a spirit of adventure, and excitement. Others of you are perhaps uneasy about the new responsiblity you will face. These feelings are all quite natural.

Having completed the first major portion of your education, each of you has some ideas of what it takes to be successful. You are at the beginning of a new era in your lives, and have every reason to be confident and helpful of success.

Do your best, be serious about your work and your future, and above all have confidence in your ability to succeed.

Best Wishes
